

Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 21 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Cloud and patchy rain clearing to long sunny spells.

Today:

A cloudy start with some patchy rain. However, this will soon clear to the southeast to leave a largely dry with plenty of sunshine. Feeling chilly though, with a brisk northeasterly wind, but this will ease later in the day. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:

Largely dry with prolonged clear spells this evening and overnight, making for a rather cold night. Winds generally light, but becoming breezy across the north of the region later. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Friday:

Becoming a bit breezy for a time with patchy cloud and a few light showers. Winds easing through the late afternoon, and showers dying out during the evening. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:

Mild and largely dry for much of the weekend with some bright spells, but cloud and patchy rain spreading into western parts Sunday afternoon. Sunny spells and scattered showers Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.